Excerpt from Proposal for Site Improvements at Harbor Village Square As the 1970s wore on. Even as his reputation grew and show followed upon show, Paley did less and less jewelry. He had become more and more interested in working metal on a much larger scale. I started thinking. He says, why was the stuff ornamental? What the hell was I doing? This was part of my investigation of my own mental process, and I looked around me and Scandinavian design was the popular design. It was very simplistic. Very minimal. Architecture was stainless steel and glass. And here I am, doing this baroque organic jewelry and trying to understand what was happening. What was happening, he decided. Was that the human spirit was reasserting its self in a resurgence of ornamentation. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
