Evil Jester Press, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. New.. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Mona Straw has it all- beautiful daughter, caring husband, lovely home, fulfilling job as a middle-school teacher. But one day a new man enters Mona s life and turns it upside down, their passionate affair tilting her mind to the edge of madness-and murder. Her lover s name is Connor. He s got blonde hair, green eyes.and he s eleven years old. ADVANCE PRAISE FOR SAVAGING THE DARK If there s a single author working in the horror genre who deserves wider notice, it might be Conlon, whose astonishing A MATRIX OF ANGELS(2011) is the most wrenching serial-killer novel of the past decade. This follow-up button-pusher would pair perfectly with Alissa Nutting s controversial TAMPA (2013), if not for the opening scene: a terrified 11-year-old boy gagged and handcuffed to a bed while our narrator, sixth-grade English teacher Mona Straw, licks the dirt from his feet. From there, we backtrack to learn of Mona s evolving infatuation with student Connor Blue, a kid as average and unremarkable as his teacher. Connor soon graduates from extra study lessons to yard work to an overwhelming sexual relationship, with every step utterly believable as Mona cycles through giddy elation, mordant depression, and, most of all, tortured self-justifications of her actions: The top buttons are undone on the blouse but that s because I m just casually hanging around the house, no other reason. Conlon s prose is so sturdy that Mona s impaired viewpoint (for example, her concern that the power of their relationship is shifting to Connor) almost makes sense before it plunges them both into unavoidable disaster. Conlon writes with literary depth and commercial aplomb; his days of too-little recognition seem numbered. - Daniel..
