BRICK BOOKS, Canada, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book. Poetry. A remarkable debut that expresses a humanism grounded in physiology. At the heart of KARYOTYPE is the Beauty of Loulan, a woman who lived four thousand years ago, her body preserved in the cool, dry sands of the Taklamakan Desert. KARYOTYPE s poems range from the title sequence, which explores the DNA and woven textiles of this woman and her vanished people (a KARYOTYPE is the characteristic chromosome complement of a species), to the firebombing of the National Library of Sarajevo, from an abecedarian hymn on the International Red Cross Book of Belongings to the experience of watching the televised invasion of Iraq in the dark of a Montreal night. The Beauty of Loulan becomes a symbol of the ephemerality of human genetic and cultural texts, and of our chances for survival. And then there was Liu Baiqiang sentenced to 18 years for Counter-Revolutionary Incitement who attached words to the legs of locusts Tyranny! Long Live Freedom! and flung them over the walls of his prison, into the air. KARYOTYPE is for me a crucial text in the work of reimagining what it is to be human I am grateful, as well as inspired, to find an artwork performing this essential task. Don McKay.
