AN INAUGURAL ADDRESS, DELIVERED IN GEORGETOWN, KY., JULY 26, 1830 (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from An Inaugural Address, Delivered in Georgetown, Ky., July 26, 1830 Dinary course of instruction, pursued in our Colleges and other Literary Institutions of the higher order We have much reason for gratitude, that these and similar queries have been started, and that much. Which, we may hope, will prove to be usefultdiscussion, has been elicited upon this important sub jcet. It has led to a review of the whole ground; to a more thorough investigation, and, it is believed, a much better un derstanding of the whole subject of education; its great design and object, and of the best means of attaining that object. Many of the most learned and intelligent men of our country, have individually been induced to make it a subject of deep and mature re ection. Committees of public literary institu tions, have been selected for the express purpose of examining deliberately, and of reporting their sentiments upon the subject. And the concurrent testimony of all these authorities, so far as it has yet been ascertained, is, that, although in commu nicating instruction; in the imparting of knowledge, in all the various departments of learning and the arts, there is, doubt less, much room for improvement, and much may be expected; yet, .in the course and order of studies, ordinarily prescribed for a liberal education, no essential alteration should be made; that the study of the ancient classics, and the higher branches of Mathematicks, should, by no means, be dispensed with in our public literary institutions; and that the interests of learn ing, and the highest purposes oi education, will be best secure ed by a continuance of the present general plan, modified only by...
