TREATING THE NEW ANXIETY: A COGNITIVE-THEOLOGICAL APPROACH

Jason Aronson, Inc. Paperback. Condition: New. 160 pages. Dimensions: 8.7in. x 5.9in. x 0.5in. A new form of anxiety has emerged, stemming in part from our post-9/11 reality, but even more stemming from the influence of supermodernity. Whereas postmodernism theorizes an anxiety that results from the collapse or loss of meaning, through the lens of supermodernity it appears that the new anxiety is evoked more by an excess of meaning generated by the rapid acceleration of human life and the medias daily bombardment with serious global, national, and local concerns. This book explores the nature of the anxiety our supermodern condition provokes, and proposes that with the void left by the diminishment of religious involvement and practice the therapy session becomes the definitive place for meaning-making. Building on a cognitive therapy approach that emphasizes the clients belief system, Bingaman demonstrates that to treat this new anxiety most effectively, practitioners must help clients identify and explore their core theological beliefs and spiritual values. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Paperback.
